COLOR SHIELD

The Grand Plaza project at the Anaheim Convention Center consisted of a 100,000 sq.ft. pedestrian outdoor space at the main entrance for the Anaheim Convention Center, the Anaheim Hilton Hotel and the Marriott Hotel.

J&M Concrete Contractors constructed the architectural concrete paving, three water feature with cantilevered terraces at the large elliptical fountain adjacent to the primary entry to the convention center.

RJM Design Group incorporated meandering patterns of color using Smith's Nature Shield with Color Floor to achieve an integral, non-film forming stain and sealer for the heavy pedestrian traffic as well as LED lighting features and surface-seeded with natural crushed rock and recycled blue glass.

The Anaheim Convention Center project occurred in 2012 and is the largest exhibit facility on the west coast with over 1 million annual visitors.
